Cristóbal Rodríguez

Front End Developer & Psychologist

SUMMARY

Hello, my name is Cristóbal Rodríguez.

I am both psychologist and Front End Developer (studying to become full-stack dev on the near future). My hunger for knowledge has pledged me to continuously keep learning and educating myself, not only in various courses, but also on countless selftaught hours.

So for the usual question of

Why should you hire me?

I can give you and your organization a creative and outer point of view for the most logical problems, thanks to the handy variety of tools my psychologist career has given me.

An avid learner and multidisciplinary worker like me, can guarantee positive results in every background, such as a joker fills as any card that you need.
